WILD has succeeded in raising strong and dynamic women who are assertive enough to engage their community leaders to promote the issues of women and girls with disabilities in their countries. I am such an example; my level of confidence has tripled since WILD.

▶ Ekaete Umoh
WILD Alumna from Nigeria

THE RIPPLE EFFECT OF ONE WILD PROGRAM

30 women with disabilities attend WILD (on average)

AND IN JUST SIX months:

- 67% are published, interviewed or featured in television, radio, print and/or Internet media.
- 76% receive new funding or in-kind support, drawing on resources acquired through WILD.
- More than 500 women with disabilities receive disability leadership training in their countries.
- More than 4000 presentations made for disability-related audiences reach more than 4,000 people.

www.miusa.org
of international development organization staff reported that they had taken action toward promoting disability inclusion as a result of their participation in WILD.

92% of international development organization staff reported that they had taken action toward promoting disability inclusion as a result of their participation in WILD.

CHANGES MADE BY DEVELOPMENT ORGANIZATIONS SIX MONTHS AFTER WILD

- 25% hired women with disabilities
- 33% established new agency policies and mandates
- 42% set a target percentage of beneficiaries to be people with disabilities
- 58% conducted outreach to make programs more inclusive
- 75% connected WILD women as resources to colleagues

*Data collected from 2013 WILD Program Evaluation

WILD WOMEN’S ACTION PLANS ADDRESS CRITICAL ISSUES

- Justice
- Rights
- Legislation
- Education
- Policy
- Gender
- Leadership
- HIV/AIDS
- Health
- Violence prevention
- Emergency response
- Sports
- Microfinance